The following graph compares a $10,000 investment in the International Equity Index Fund to a theoretical investment of the same amount in the MSCI EAFE® Free Index:

This performance data represents past performance and does not guarantee future results. There is no guarantee that the circumstances leading to this performance will be replicated in the future. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate and fund shares, when redeemed, may be worth less than the premiums you paid. Recent performance may be less than the figures shown.

The performance figures above reflect the reinvestment of all dividends and capital gains, and the deduction of investment management fees and fund-level expenses, but not contract-level charges. If contract-level charges were reflected, the performance quoted would be significantly lower than shown. The accompanying Performance and Returns for the State Farm Variable Deferred Annuity or Variable Universal Life policy reflect contract-level charges.

¹ The Morgan Stanley Capital International Europe, Australia, and Far East Free (MSCI EAFE® Free) Index currently measures the performance of stock markets of 16 European countries, Australia, New Zealand, Hong Kong, Japan, and Singapore, and takes into account local market restrictions on share ownership by foreigners. The EAFE® Free Index is meant to reflect actual opportunities for foreign investors in a local market. Unlike an investment in the International Equity Index Fund, returns of the EAFE Free Index do not reflect expenses of investing. It is not possible to invest directly in an index.

It is possible to invest in this underlying Fund only through the purchase of a State Farm Variable Deferred Annuity or Variable Universal Life Insurance policy. There is no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective. An investment should be made with an understanding of the risks that an investment in equity securities entails. These include the risk that the financial condition of the issuers of the securities in the portfolio, or the condition of the stock market in general, may decline. Fund units, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. The International Equity Index Fund invests all of its assets primarily in foreign companies. Investing in foreign securities involves risks not normally associated with investing in the U.S., including higher trading and custody costs, less stringent accounting, legal and reporting practices, potential for political and economic instability, and the fluctuation and potential regulation of currency exchange and exchange rates. The Fund seeks to match the performance of an index. There is no guarantee that it will be able to do so. Because the Fund does not invest in every security in its benchmark index, the Fund will not track its benchmark index with the same degree of accuracy as would an investment vehicle that invested in every component security of its benchmark index. The Fund intends to remain fully invested at all times. Even when stock prices are falling, the Fund will stay fully invested and the Fund may decline more than its benchmark index. It is not possible to invest directly in an index.
